ABOUT THE INSTITUTE OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

Libraries aim to facilitate knowledge resources to the community and play a vital role in spreading education through self-learning process. Librarianship is the profession, who facilitate in the libraries are facing problems of limited financial resources and underutilization of available resources. The challenges are real, complex and varied with organization, place and community. To cater the need of rapidly evolving and changing information and user community, libraries have to search answers in a new perspective by using cutting edge technologies and innovative approaches. Hence, libraries are continuously reframing themselves and focusing more on service in comparison to resources.

In this case role and competencies of the library professionals needs to be reevaluated to cater the needs of rapidly evolving and changing user requirements. Thus, various management, technical, and innovative approaches need to be adopted by the professionals to meet technical feasibility, economic viability and user desirability.
